

Clinical Dementia ECHO

2nd Thursday of Each Month | 11:00AM - 12:00PM PT

The Clinical Dementia ECHO, funded by the Indian Health Service Alzheimer's Grant Program, provides comprehensive information to support Indian Health Service, Tribal, and Urban Indian clinicians to strengthen knowledge and confidence to detect, diagnose, and manage care for American Indian and Alaska Native people living with dementia. The program will offer a free ECHO collaborative to continue learning, knowledge sharing and support during virtual ECHO clinics focused on diagnosis and management of individuals living with dementia, including care planning, care preferences, medication management, management of challenging behaviors and treating patients with holistic, culturally responsive care.

Sign Up
Today:
HERE

What We'll Cover:

- Dementia Recognition
- Dementia Diagnosis
- Dementia Assessment
- Dementia Management

To Join a Session:

Simply click on the Zoom Icon 5 minutes before the session begins (or at any time during the session)

The 1-hour telehealth sessions will offer clinicians an opportunity to present cases, receive recommendations from peers and an interprofessional team of specialists working in Indian Country, and an opportunity to obtain CE credit following participation in a didactic presentation.

Have a question about a patient or scenario?

Could you use some consultation on tough scenarios or challenges that you're having?

If yes, we welcome you to present your patients or questions to peers and specialists for tangible, treatment recommendations by completing and submitting the following form:

FORM HERE

More Information On Indian Country ECHO
www.indiancountryecho.org